

A black and white spectrogram visualization. The horizontal axis represents time, and the vertical axis represents frequency. The plot shows a dense collection of vertical lines, indicating a signal with many frequency components. The lines are most concentrated in the lower frequency range, with several prominent peaks extending upwards. The overall pattern suggests a complex, non-stationary signal.

1940 1960 1980 2000 2020